'The Man who kindled the Flame of Knowledge: A Tribute to Hasu Yajnik'

The Centre for Gujarati Language and Literature Central University of Gujarat, Gandhinagar has organised an online meeting to pay tribute to Dr. Hasu Yajnik. He was a genius who penned a number of outstanding books and contributed immensely to the field of Gujarati literature. He has contributed to almost every genre- folk literature, criticism, research, the fine art of music, spirituality, novel, short story and essay. His contribution to the field of comparative literature - he carried out an extensive comparative study between Indian regional folk literature and Gujarati folk literature - will be always remembered.

You are invited to join this online meeting and pay tribute to Dr. Hasu Yajnik.

“I am a people's man. When I was invited to Central University of Gujarat to deliver the keynote address for the national webinar on folk literature, I always felt that I should go in person. The pleasure of speaking by looking into people's eyes is not the same as speaking in front of a laptop.”
